ANDY JIAYU WANG

Education

Duke University 2025.8 – 2027.5 (expected)

M.A. in Political Science

- Fields: Political Economy & Political Methodology
- Thesis committee: Melanie Manion, Edmund Malesky, and Jiawei Fu.

Peking University 2021.9 – 2025.6

B.A. in Political Science & Economics

- Certificate programs: China Studies in Beijing (Stanford Center at PKU, 2025 Spring), Data and Policy Summer Scholar (UChicago Harris School, 2023 Summer).

Research Interests

Authoritarian Politics: State-Society Interaction, Elite Politics.

Geographic Regions: China.

Methodologies: Causal Machine Learning, Experiments, AI for Social Science.

Working Papers

1. Jiawei Fu, Donald P. Green, and Andy J. Wang, Heterogeneous treatment effects with machine learning: Power, design, and evidence from experiments, presented at APSA 2026.
2. Andy J. Wang, Making local states legible: Intra-state legibility and repression of social unrest in contemporary China, Master's thesis project.
3. Ying Chi, Weixiao Guo, Melanie Manion, and Andy J. Wang, The Ladder of political success in China: Political selection and portfolio allocation at the apex of power, in progress, to be presented at MPSA 2027.
4. Andy J. Wang, Localized focal moments: Political rituals, government attention, and social unrest in contemporary China, in progress.

Presentations

MPSA Annual Meeting, 2026

PolMeth Annual Meeting, 2026

Research Experience

Research Assistant 2026.7 – In Progress

- Supervisor: Melanie Manion (Duke)
- Work: political elite dataset construction and ML-based analysis & literature review

Research Assistant 2024.8 – 2025.6

- Supervisors: Weijia Li (Monash) & Shaoda Wang (UChicago)
- Work: text data scratching & mining

Research Assistant 2023.3, 2024.12

- Supervisors: Wenhui Yang (PKU) & Zhe Zhang (PKU)
- Work: interviewer in two separate field surveys

Undergraduate Research Training Program 2023.7 – 2024.10

- Advisor: Yu Zeng (PKU)
- Research topic: policy responsiveness in China's health care reform

Awards

Dean's Research Award, Duke University, 2025, 2026

Outstanding Assignment in the Core General Curriculum (PhD-level Political Analysis, 2/18), Peking University, Fall 2023

May 4th Youth Science Award, Peking University, 2023

Skills

Software: Python, R, Stata, ArcGIS, LaTeX.

Language: English (fluent), Mandarin (fluent), Teochew (native).